cess almost unexampled in the mercantile annals of the country. Opening here sum. in the fall of 1862, it has, under the management of Jules, Nathan and Stanwood, reached, from small beginnings, the proportions of a colessal concern city. It has only one rival, and that as much a "special wonder" as itself. The three brothers have been characterized by fare devotion to each other and by a fidelity to business that could not fail of the results we are giad to be able to chronicle. The elder brother, Jules, is now in the city, to remain here permanently, after an absence of some years in New York, where he distinguished himself among the sharp, shrewd buyers who flock to that market from every quarter of the continent. He takes the place of Nathan, who goes to Europe for some munths of needed rest to repair a constitution somewhat broken by too constant application to business, Stanwood remaining in New York to attend there to the increasing interests of a growing business. While welcoming Mr. Jules Menken back again, we cannot but regret the absence of his prothers. who have made for themselves a very high placein the esteem of their fellowcitizens of Memphis. We wish Mr. Nathan Menken a pleasant voyage and health and agreeable friendships awaiting him in the old world.

A. H. GARLAND, Dudley E. Jones, and Gordon N. Peay ste commissioners to see that the next elections in Arkansus are fairly and honestly conducted. Is it not an extraordinary event in a southern State that a chief magistratea straight Republican and a devout, unfaltering Unionist-should appoint such men as these to an office of such pecullar responsibilities? Baxter rises superior to himself and to his party in selecting these, among the best and truest citizens of Arkansas, to conduct fairly and honestly the coming elections. THE crops in East Tennessee promise fairly. The Knoxville Chronicle says JET PALACE that since the recent rains many farmers from Knox and adjoining counties have reported that the wheat crop is doing well. Wheat is now heading and some even in bloom. A better yield was never promised at this season. It may be lujured yet by rust, which h about the only enemy it has to contend with now. Corn-planting has been retarded greatly by the wet weather When the rains ceased the ground dried out quickly and was left in bad condition. Corn looks unpromising now. For the same reasons, the oat crop looks badly. Clover and other grasses promise an abundant yield in most localities. The fruit crop is also abundant. Peaches and pears were somewhat damaged by the late frosts, but apples bid fair to be abundant and of good quality.

WHENEVER a senator or representative rises in his place in either house of congress, and opens his speech with a denunciation of the rebellion or rebels. as General Dix would say, "spot him." Either he is a stupid malignant or a Fireman's Fund Ins. Co., of rise superior to the played-out prejudices of the war. Dave Nunn has, by his reeent speech denunciatory of Mesers. Wise, Isham G. Harris, and William L. Yancey, placed himself in either one of these categories as our readers may select, and he ought, we suggest, to be preserved among Mrs. Jarley's wax-works as the iast of his tribe, together with the pokerplaying chief-justice of Arkansas, now pining from disappointment in Washington.

By the compulsory school law, passed by the present legislature of New York, no child under fourteen years of age is allowed to be put out to employment unless a teacher or school officer certifies to the fact that he has been taught for fourteen weeks of that year the branches of a common school education. For each and every year thereafter the employer is held bound to allow him a similar course of education for at least fourteen weeks, under a penalty of fifty dollars for each offense. The fines so collected are to be turned over to the school fund of the district, and it is made the duty of the school-teachers to enforce them. We commend this law to the especial attention of aspirants for legislative honors in this State.
